Question: Will the thousand Army trainees who are coming to the campus in March affect your social life?

Rebecca Shinkle, Agriculture freshman: "Want 'til March!"

Jane Land, Agriculture, sophomore: "I imagine since all our boys will be gone, a lot of girls will start dating the soldiers or else sit home."

Betty Waltman, Agriculture, freshman: "I most of the University boys are gone by March, girls will attend dances and open houses for soldiers in order to have a little fun."

Barbs Graft, Arts and Sciences, freshman: "I'm going to join the Foreign Legion and forget my troubles."

Anne Elliott, Agriculture, freshman: "Soldiers' open houses will no longer be for fraternities, but for soldiers."

Tio Brown, Education junior: "The soldiers will take the place of the University boys."

Mary Crawford, Arts and Sciences, sophomore: "Will my social life be affected? I hope so!"

Homer Chih-Chen Loh To Speak Today For WSSF

Homer Chih-Chen Loh, representative of the World Student Service fund, will speak at 7 p.m. today in the Music room of the Union building under the auspices of the campus WSSF group. He will make a second appearance at Pitkin club at noon tomorrow in the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church.

Mr. Loh, who has himself had experience as a war refugee student, is thus fitted to serve the cause of student war relief. He is an interpreter of the situation of Chinese students to their fellow-students in this country. He has a thorough knowledge of the needs of student war relief in other parts of the world as well.

He holds an LL.B. degree from Soochow university. Since coming to this country in 1939, he has been a student at Crozer Theological Seminary; and with a Crezer fellowship he has also studied at the University of Pennsylvania. In 1941 he received his M.A. degree there in the field of Sociology. He holds an Oriental Certificate from Crozer Seminary. During the past year he has done a substantial part of the study necessary for the doctorate.

During his college years Mr. Loh was chairman of the YMCA at Soochow university, and he has been President of the Chinese Students' Club of Philadelphia. His intercollegiate experience has been broad. He was a student delegate to the Christian Student Conference in Japan and he has attended many intercollegiate gatherings in this country. He has been a leader in conferences and assemblies and has served as a camp counselor in Pittsfield, Mass.

Mr. Loh has held the position of Student Counselor at the Peking College of Commerce and Finance. For several years he was an assistant to Dr. James Yen in the now-famous Mass Education Movement, one of the major forces in rural reconstruction in China. When the war began in China, Mr. Loh was forced to migrate to the west where he served as secretary of the Mass Education Movement in Szechwan. He also made a great contribution there to the Planning Commission of the Szechwan Provisional Government.

Graduate Engineer Presents Technical Paper On Insulation

George B. Shanklin, graduate of the University Engineering College in 1911, presented a technical paper entitled, "Warlike Loading of Insulated Power Cable" at the American Institute of Electrical Engineers last January 26. This paper has been distributed by the General Electric Company for whom Shanklin has been an employee since graduation.

Shanklin, who was formerly an outstanding quarterback on the football team, is now one of the top engineers of the cable division, central station department of General Electric and is one of the foremost authorities on insulated cables.

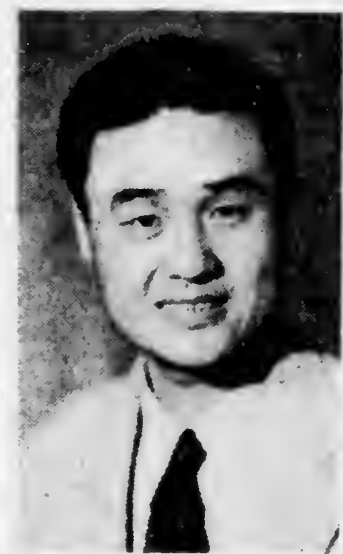

The article will soon be published in "Electrical Engineering" which is the official publication of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The purpose of the article is to discuss the possibilities of conserving copper in insulated wires and cable circuits. The two main points discussed are:

1. To arrange the circuit so as to carry the same power with less copper at standard temperature or, conversely, more power with the same copper.
2. To reduce the copper, or increase the load, still more, and operate at some degree of over-temperature.

Sweater Swing To Begin Today

The weekly Sweater Swing was not held last week as planned due to the fact that the Bluegrass room had been engaged by another organization. But the weekly Sweater Sessions will begin today, according to Jeannette Graves, chairman of the House Committee.

Hostesses and hosts for this afternoon's session are Marie Brackett, head hostess; Maryann Vogt, Roberta Parker, Marian Yates, Bob Hillemeier, Ed Barnes, Gus Green, Bill Colvert, and John Doddridge.

HOMER CHIH-CHEN LOH

will speak at 7 p. m. today in the Music room of the Union building under the auspices of the campus WSSF group.

BAND CHOOSES DORIS SMITH

New Sponsor To Reign For Year

Doris Talbot Smith, Lexington arts and sciences freshman, has been chosen sponsor of the University band for the next year. Miss Smith is a former band sponsor of Henry Clay high school and is a member of Chi Omega sorority. She was chosen from a group of thirty-seven women competing for the position.

Barbara Reim, retiring sponsor of the group, when interviewed before the election said, "The girl who will be elected this afternoon is the luckiest girl in the University and I know she will be the happiest. It is a great honor to be chosen sponsor of the 'Best Band in Dixie.' I surely will have happy memories of two wonderful years."

Miss Smith upon being informed of her election stated, "I want to thank the boys for letting me be a part of a great band. It is an honor I shall never forget." She will be formally presented to the band members at their annual dinner-dance to be held Thursday, March 4.

US's UKs

LEUTENANTS THOMAS B. PARRY, Georgetown, and JOHN W. ABBOTT, Sulphur, have completed pre-flight training, first step toward winning pilots' wings, at San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center. The officers have been assigned to the primary flying schools of the Army Air Forces Gulf Coast Training Center.

Parry and Abbott received their B. S. degrees from the University in 1935 and 1940 respectively.

MARCIA RANDALL, Lexington, graduated Saturday from the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps' Officer Candidate School at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, and was commissioned a third officer in the W. A. A. C. She will be assigned to the recruiting service.

She was graduated from the University in 1941.

GLENN HOMER MEABOIS, Corbin, recently won his silver wings of a pilot and was promoted to the rank of Flight Officer in the Army Air Forces at Turner Field, Albany, Ga.

Turner Field, an Advanced Flying School, is one of a group of air bases, which comprises the Army Air Forces Southeast Training Center. It is here that aviation cadets, student officers and aviation students are sent for their final phase of training which culminates in their receiving wings, commissions or the rank of flight officer in the Army Air Forces.

See The Team Off!

SuKy, pep organization, is sponsoring a "See the team off to the tournament" rally at 1:45 p. m. Wednesday, at the Alumni gym.

Led by the "Best Band in Dixie," students will escort the team to Union station, where the Wildcats will entrain at 2:28 for Louisville.

"Kentucky is the team to beat," declares Coach Rupp. But with eight teams seeded "it looks to be a wide-open affair," he added.

"The team certainly deserves a rousing send-off," SuKy prexy Jim Crowley, stated. "We want every student who can possibly attend the rally to do so," he added.

DR. HAMILTON TO DISCUSS USES OF PHOTOGRAPHY

Today's Talk Will Be Held In Browning Room

Dr. W. Brooks Hamilton, associate professor of hygiene, will conduct an informal discussion on "The Uses of Photography Today" at 3 p. m. today in the Browning room of the library.

As an amateur photographer, Dr. Hamilton's work has earned him much recognition in both national and local exhibits. He is president of the Lexington Camera Club and in that capacity he has arranged for many exhibits of national prize-winning photographs.

Dr. Hamilton's own specialty is the photographing of Lexington and the Bluegrass. Many of his pictures, especially those of the traditional Kentucky horse farms, have been published nationally.

Today's talk will be the second in a series entitled "Invitation to Reading" presented by the University library. The first program, a discussion of Saroyan, was conducted last week by Mrs. George Edwin Smith. The third, to be presented Tuesday, March 9, is titled "Travel in Central America." Dr. W. D. Funkhouser will be the speaker.

Panel Discussion To Be Centered On Food Rationing

"Agriculture Goes to War" will be the topic of the regular Wednesday afternoon forum to be held tomorrow at 4 p. m. in the Music room of the Union building.

Chairman of the panel discussion will center around the point system of food rationing, will be Dean L. J. Horlacher, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Other members of the panel will be Mrs. Morris Scheraga, chairman of the speakers' training for civilian defense, Miss Laura Deephouse, professor of home economics, Aubrey J. Brown, assistant in markets, Experiment Station, and Robert Ammons, arts and sciences senior.

One representative from each residence house is requested to attend.

LAKES RELEASED UNDER BAIL AFTER HEARING

Defendant Admits Firing Four Shots Into Dance Hall

Boyd Lakes, former city bus driver, was held to the grand jury in Fayette county court under $7,500 bond Thursday after witnesses at his examining trial testified to the fatal shooting of Sam P. Coppock, Jr., University senior from Hatcher, on Saturday, Feb. 13.

Lakes admitted firing four shots into the crowded Dixieland dance hall where the slaying occurred. The defendant, released under bail after the hearing, did not testify.

Several witnesses told of hearing the shots fired and of seeing Coppock slump to the floor. They differed as to whether the shots were fired inside or outside the building.

Guy W. Maupin, superintendent of identification for the city police department, said that he had been unable to determine whether the bullet which killed Coppock had been fired from the rifle Lakes told police that he had fired. Maupin testified that he found two bullet holes in a window at the dance hall.

A coroners jury which heard the evidence presented at the examining trial, returned a verdict stating that Coppock was killed by a "gun-shot wound at the hand or hands of persons unknown."

SGA Forced To Adjourn Due To Member Shortage

Forced to adjourn without transacting any official business because a quorum of members was not present, the legislature of the Student Government association informally discussed the problems facing the organization due to the shortage of men at its regular meeting Thursday night.

Jim Collier, SGA president, announced that the new constitution, now being drafted by a special committee, will be presented to the legislature at its next meeting.

Members absent from Thursday's meeting were Marvin Akers, Jane Birk, Louise Peak, William Caywood, Kenneth Vanlandingham, Ruth McQuown, Chester Theiss, Roy Huth, Margaret Erskine, Vincent Spagnuolo, Joan Taylor Noland, Jack Atchison, George Gilbert, Betty Lee Birk, and John Neely. According to the present constitution a member is expelled from the legislature if he has three unexcused absences during a quarter.

Although this made the third absence for some of the representatives, all of them have at least one of the absences excused and will not be expelled, according to Collier.

Independent Party Will Meet Friday

There will be a meeting of the Independent party at 7:30 Friday evening in Memorial Hall. According to Albert Cross, president, the purpose of the meeting is to plan activities to be carried out during the remainder of the school term. As yet the speaker to be featured has not been decided upon.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

Women's Glee Club Sang Musicales

By NORMA WEATHERSPOON

Presenting a varied and well-selected program, the University Women's Glee club, under the direction of Miss Mildred Lewis, sang with talent and inspiration at the weekly Musicales, Sunday afternoon in Memorial hall.

Climaxing the performance was the last group of selections, which opened with the familiar "Mountain" and the familiar "My Hero" from "The Chocolate Soldier" by Oscar Straus was particularly well executed and received.

During the last two numbers of the group, Sigmund Romberg's "Your Land and My Land" and Madelyn Phillips' "Thank God for America," a patriotic theme was followed with the full darkened except for a single spotlight focused on an American flag which formed the backdrop of the stage. The stirring quality of the patriotic airs moved the audience deeply.

Excellent shading was displayed in the Ukrainian folk song, "A Violin is Singing in the Street," in which the tones of a violin were reproduced by the voices.

An arrangement by Wainwright of the familiar tongue-twister "Peter Piper" added an amusing note to the program and at the same time illustrated the precise diction of the singers.

As the opening number, the chorus sang "Salutation" by Miss Adele South Gensemer, accompanied by Miss Gensemer's playing added much to the beauty of the selections, especially "My Hero" and "The Fountain" by Elinor Renick Warren.

Air Corps Draw Eighty Men From University Into Service; Thirty-Five Others Wait Call

Stern Reigns As Queen; Colonel Of Military Ball

Battalion And Co. Commanders Are Introduced

Adalin Stern, Lexington arts and sciences sophomore, was presented as honorary regimental colonel and queen of the Scabbard and Blade Military Ball Saturday night in the Bluegrass room of the Union building.

Mary Beale Mylor, arts and sciences sophomore from Lexington, was introduced as honorary lieutenant colonel, second in command. Honorary lieutenant colonels who will serve as battalion commanders are Barbara Reim, arts and sciences senior, Lexington; Joan Theiss, home economics sophomore, Owensboro; and Harriet Hord, arts and sciences senior, Maysville. Patsy Horkan was presented as honorary captain and adjutant. She is an arts and sciences junior from Gainesville, Ga.

The ten honorary captains who will act as company commanders were also introduced. They are Ida Bannan, Lexington; Betty Bannan, Lexington; June Byars, Lexington; Sue Ewing and Sarah Ewing, both of Louisville; Geneva House, Lexington; Betty McClanahan, Dallas, Texas; Betty Proctor, Lexington; Wanda Scrivner, Ashland; and Peaches Snyder, Ashland.

Open Class Topic Will Deal With Milk Diseases

"Pasteurization of Milk," the topic of the open class to be held by Dr. R. H. Weaver of the bacteriology department at the fourth hour Thursday in room 125 of the Biological Sciences building, will deal principally with diseases in milk.

This open class, like all others in this series, is open to the entire student body.

The possibilities of diseases of various types being transmitted through milk is great, according to Dr. Weaver, and the only way to properly handle the situation is for all cities to have laws requiring that the milk be pasteurized. Too much milk that is being used today has not gone through the famous process discovered by the Frenchman, Louis Pasteur.

Pasteurization, he will explain, is the only certain method of disease prevention, and he will spend considerable time in discussing this process. There are other methods of processing milk, but Dr. Weaver said that none of them has proved as successful.

This open meeting is part of the course, bacteriology 2b, and will not include demonstrations but will be mainly in the nature of a lecture.

AWARDS WILL BE GIVEN AT ANNUAL ALL-AG BANQUET

Various Clubs To Present Prizes For Unusual Work

Awards will be given at the annual All-AG banquet to be held Monday night, March 1, to students who have achieved unusual records in their college work.

Recognition will be given Prof. George Roberts, head of the agronomy department, who is retiring this year.

The Jonas Well Memorial scholarship will be presented to the junior man student in the agriculture college who has the highest standing for his entire college work.

The Cornell award to the sophomore woman in home economics who made the highest standing of the class during her freshman year will be presented by Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary and professional home economics fraternity.

Block and Bridge club will present their outstanding senior member with a plaque and will recognize an honorary member.

Alpha Zeta, agriculture honorary society, will introduce new pledges for the winter quarter.

Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, assistant editor at the Experiment station, will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "The World We Want."

Tickets for the banquet, which will be held in the Bluegrass room of the Union building, are on sale for $1. They may be bought at the offices of Dean Thomas P. Cooper and Assistant Dean L. J. Horlacher or from members of the Agriculture council, which is composed of presidents of clubs and honoraries in the college.

Corp. McKinney Wins For Wynne

"Where are you from?"
"Adairville."
"Where's that?"
"In Kentucky."
"Where did you go to school?"
"University of Kentucky."
"Where's that?"
"Lexington."
"Where's that?"

Despite obvious exasperation, Wynne McKinney, after being thus quizzed, won 2,000 Camels on Bob Hawk's "Thanks to the Yanks" program Saturday night.

McKinney, who graduated from the Journalism department of the University in 1942, is now stationed in New York with the army.

When asked to whom he wished the Camels sent, McKinney replied, "Corporal McKinney, of course."

McGuire To Speak To Sigma Pi Group

Dr. F. T. McGuire, of the Department of Metallurgy, College of Engineering, will speak at an open meeting of Sigma Pi Sigma, Physics honorary, at 7:30 tonight in Room 201, Pence Hall.

His subject will be "X-Ray Diffraction and Its Application." All interested are invited to attend.

Kernel Business Staff To Meet

All members of the Kernel Business Staff are asked to attend a compulsory staff meeting at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Business Office. Plans will be made for a special edition of the Kernel to honor students leaving for the army at the end of the quarter.

Registrar's Office Announces List Of Men Called

Eighty men have withdrawn from the University to enter active service with the Air Corps, according to an announcement received yesterday from the Registrar's office. In addition to these students there are approximately thirty-five members of the Air Corps Reserve who have not yet received their orders, but who will probably be called before the end of the quarter.

Students who have withdrawn are:

Troy E. Adams, Lexington; Carl Althaus, Louisville; George G. Barnett, Ludlow; Jack W. Begley, Hazard; Joe L. Boyd, Paducah; William Bryden, Detroit; Hugh E. Edward T. Breathitt, Hopkinsville; Frank T. Bunch, Lexington; William G. Butler, Henderson; Frank D. Cassidy, Lexington; Floyd H. ## To Fight With Half Credit

By NORMA WEATHERSPOON

Guest Editor

On the floor of the University post office lies a long tan envelope. It has been ripped open hurriedly. In the upper left corner are the words, "War Department."

Another University student is on his way to war.

But, just in case he should come back to school after he's slapped the Japs and nabbed the Nazis, he takes time to stop by the registrar's office and see about his credits.

Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain explains the situation to him thus, "According to the plan adopted by the University a year ago, a student who leaves school and enters military service within ten days receives credit for the work he has completed. If he withdraws after finishing half the quarter, which ended on February 17 this time, he is given half credit on all subjects in which he is making a passing grade. If he leaves after completing two-thirds of the quarter, March 3 that is, he receives full credit."

"All very well and good," thinks the future fighter. But then he ponders the question a little more and begins to wonder. What good will half of the quarter's credits do him when he gets back to UK? Most of the subjects he's taking are required and the University wants a man to have all of his requirements—not just half.

Suppose that our departing friend is a journalism junior. Every morning he gets up and dashes over to Spanish class, when he gets the four credits for this quarter he'll be through with his language requirements. From Miller hall he goes over to McVee for his course in feature writing—three hours a quarter for two quarters required. His English class isn't on the required list but it's a good elective. After noon he must work in copy-reading and typography lab for two hours.

When he comes back and starts planning his graduation requirements he'll find that he has to repeat every subject except his English. What good, then, will his credits do him? They can't count as electives because they're not on the list of subjects which may be elected. They can't count as requirements because he won't be able to take an odd number of credits to go with them. Frankly, he'll be slightly messed up.

Naturally, to the student who plugs along in school for a whole quarter it doesn't seem quite fair to give equal credit to someone who remains in school for only half that long. Often the man who is going into service isn't even required to pass an examination on his courses.

But wouldn't it be fairer to everyone to give the fighting men full credit provided they attend school for half the quarter and pass an exam over the portion of their courses that have been covered before they leave? That way they'd be getting credits that could apply to their graduation requirements when they return.

Maybe this would encourage more students to come back to school after the war. Maybe it would cause some to register for another quarter who might otherwise drop out and stay at home until they are called.

At least it would show the men that their University is doing its part to help them through the struggle and that it will be awaiting their return.

The PR Incident Is Explained

Pershing Rifles, military honorary, has been ordered to return the trophy won in April, 1942, in the annual drill competition of the Fifth Corps area. This has caused more than one student to scratch his head and mutter, "What goes on here?"

And the student body is due some explanation of the matter.

The drill team of PR certainly deserves to win any competition it enters if hard work is to receive its reward. It has been pointed out that this is perhaps the only team which gives so much time to preparation for one competitive event which lasts only nine minutes.

Another factor which makes the record of the organization something to which it may point with pride is the rate of turnover of personnel. Unlike players on athletic teams, the members of Pershing Rifles are allowed to compete as members of the drill squad only during the two years they serve as basic ROTC students.

Now for that explanation. Here are the facts of the entire situation as far as we have been able to determine them. Take them and interpret them as you will.

Kentucky was declared the winner of the meet by the judges who were present, and a special committee of Ohio students examined the score sheets and accepted the judges' decision.

The next day, however, Ohio declared that a mistake had been made and that Kentucky had omitted some movement from the drill. The judges were no longer present and so the matter was not settled.

Ohio then asked the Regimental Headquarters of Pershing Rifles to appoint a board to review the case. A group of men at the University of Nebraska were chosen to examine the scoring sheets.

Basing its opinion purely on the material sent to it by the Ohio drill team, the board ruled that Ohio had won. Under the circumstances, the board could not have rendered any other decision. Captain R. L. Stivers, Pershing Rifles advisor, explained. It saw only Ohio's side of the story. No material was submitted to Kentucky.

Kentucky did not present any arguments because the Kentucky unit did not agree to the officers appointed on the board and thought that those who judged the meet were the only men who could justly change the decision. These original judges were never asked to explain their decision.

Opinion is divided on the question of whether Kentucky should abide by the board's decision and return the trophy. One thing all members agree on: if the original judges say that the mistake was made they will accept the decision. Otherwise they are inclined to feel that they won the competition despite the interpretation given to the scoring sheets by the Nebraska board.

And that is the story. Pershing Rifles will write its finish at its next meeting.

In Which We Pat Some Backs

Congratulations to those men of the band who were recently awarded the gold and silver UK band keys for faithful and outstanding service.

Although the "Best Band in Dixie" was handicapped this year as to quantity, it undoubtedly was not handicapped as to quality.

From the beginning of the football season and the home games when the band upholds the tradition of colorful entertainment during the hall to the end of the basketball season, the bandmen have kept their unblemished record.

Probably the greatest thrill to a UK student or fan is at the beginning of the game when you hear a lone trumpet beginning the sweet notes of "On, On, U. of K." It's then that the crowd begins to warm up, to come forth with some of that much-needed school spirit.

So it's to the band that much of the credit is due. They've led our pep parades before the big games, our victory parades afterward.

So now we can conclude that Kentucky wasn't really handicapped when the band was forced to decrease in size. They were strengthened by the knowledge that they should still be tops in the South for fine music.

We dare anyone to deny that this year's band, any UK band, is not the "Best Band in Dixie."

It's encouraging now to know that we can follow our schedule books and not worry too much about whether the course will be offered or not.

"Business as Usual" will be carried on by the University during the spring quarter.

Although we know that some changes will have to be made, we may be sure that no department will be abolished unless absolutely necessary.

That means that all of us who are privileged to remain in school, and try to carry on, will still have the opportunity to take what we wish.

There'll be little time for anything but work next quarter, so let's face it now. Let's take advantage of our opportunities.—AW.

Off They Go . . .

You Can Sit On A Mountain
But Not On A Little Tack

You know, some campus citizens look on us reporters as a peculiar tribe that is constantly searching for facts to misconstrue. Inhabitants of this fair University city are especially treacherous in their reception of us Jettison journalists.

We want to report things as accurately as possible, therefore, we ask a few minutes time for occasional interviews. We do not strive to take up as much of a person's time as possible. Our business is timed itself.

Readers expect to find correct stories about their university in their paper. The reporters naturally submit what information they can obtain that comprehends accuracy.

Gathering this material sometimes requires questions of people who are supposed to know something about the subject in question. When these sources turn indifferent ears to the reporter's quest, the basis for an accurate story collapses.

It is deplorable that these citizens conduct themselves as well-known members of the horse family at times of the reporter's inquiry.

Edward Price Bell, writing in the Chicago Daily News, said, "The major interview is a carefully constructed transmitting device, a medium, a mirror. It is a mirror held up to a remarkable personality."

We might add that the reflection is bad when the mirror is cracked. It is notable that the more important citizens of our University community are affably available to reporters at all times. These are people who have information at hand, out of whose information stories emerge correctly. These are people who realize that there is an element of timeliness to most news that requires its immediate presentation.

Then to you to whom we speak, let this thought conclude. You may teepose on the crest of the mightiest mountain but on the smallest tack. In other words, you may assume a very high position, but you cannot sit on a very small character with impunity . . . and there's a point to that.

Editor's note: This editorial was taken from The Louisville student publication of Louisiana State University, but it might as well have been written in our own kernel office. It is a true picture of the conditions under which a reporter must work. Important persons on this campus, as well as in every other place, are cooperative and considerate. It is the self-rewarding "big shot" who is too busy for anything but his own interests.

The Navy has made over several out-of-date destroyers and submarines and put them back in service, an action which no doubt inspired the Republican party to see what they could do with Herbert Hoover.

The Navy's move, however, has one advantage over the Republicans'. They sent their old hulks to Britain.

That judge up in Indiana who soaked a man $10 for drunken driving one day and put him in jail for the same charge on the next, probably was an old weather observer who hadn't forgotten his former job. You know the prediction—fine today, cooler tomorrow.

The Whirlwind

By ED BARNES

• SALUTE TO "POP" A. H. THIELE

• PERSONALITY: SPENCER MERWIN

• IT'S A GIRL'S CARNIVAL NOW

Hot air, it is said, is a wonderful polish. I hear Ammons and Dixon are now accepting orders for shoes and silverware . . . cheap too . . . unlimited air supply. In fact, the negroes want to make them members of their Apple Polishing Union. And who was it that said the Debs don't stick together?

Seriously, though, as far as a lug name band is concerned for the Junior-Senior prom, it's out. That doesn't mean the prom won't be good, nor does it mean the band won't be good. It simply means that once again the students who wanted to help this University were not fortunate enough to do so.

If you think for once that Mr. Peterson was the obstacle, you're wrong. He, himself, said that the social committee's money is a base on which to build for a good dance. The cause for its failure was twofold: the last being Uncle Sam's unexpected calling for the air corps, and the other was an office in the Student Union building whose head I shall not mention.

As for me, I have every reason in the world to be mad, but I'm not. Long ago I became immune to false accusations and malicious remarks; however, they did hurt others. I still think the SGA committee deserves credit in their attempt to charge $2 and give the school the best band in the land. Yet, the man who did the most work and will receive the least credit is "POP" THIELE of the Student Union building.

"POP" worked night and day trying to bring a nation's favorite to our campus . . . he even spent money from his own pocket. He believes as do countless others that big name bands are like Robert's Rules of Order; if they weren't successful, they wouldn't be used at colleges all over the nation.

Campus Personality

Here's a little sketch placed under my door during the recent electric storm. It may not be good but to the subject it carries a definite shock.

SPENCER "SPINNEY" MERWIN, a sophomore from Frankfort, who spends most of his time counting, eating, counting, pinterbugging, and counting is at the present in a great dilemma. He can't decide between T bone steaks at the cottage and a certain brunette in Boyd hall. The steaks are rationed but so is the Boyd hall sugar. He'll probably need his ration tickets for shoe leather in his merry chase.

He is famous for saving nothing in more words than his Webster's unknickered. After a long struggle, he pushed aside his high school romances to settle down with his Boyd hall Juliet . . . as much as she will let him, which "ain't" much.

He hates studying, competence of which he is receiving plenty, and listening to a certain columnist (local) talk about the Kernel's censored cooperation with the Pershing Rifles story.

He is majoring in Grillology with Romance as his field of concentration, but he hopes to get in the Paratroops soon so he can start at the top in his career. Oh, that fateful day in March!

No Carnival This Year

At a combined meeting last week of LANCES, ODK, LAMP AND CROSS and SUKY it was deemed that any attempt to hold a carnival this quarter would be futile. It was perhaps the first time such a mass meeting was ever held. Since the Carnival sponsored by LANCES and SUKY was such a great success last spring, the LANCES members hated not to give it this year. And of course SUKY (perhaps second to none in getting things done) was right there backing them up. Moreover, strength galore was added when ODK and LAMP AND CROSS volunteered to help.

With power like that most any sensible plan would survive. But that's the point. It just wasn't plausible. The fact that it could be held only on March 6 made it impossible. There just wasn't enough time left to work on it besides that, there was no sensible place to hold it.

The spirit and coordination was there but gasoline and time are rationed to the point where the dark horse carnival would have become a night mare. Thanks to such "go getters" as Professor W. S. Ward, Bob Hillemeier, Gerald Schaffer, Jim Crowley, Bill Caywood, Givens Dixon, Ralph Eschborno, Andre Meyer, Bob Hutton, Lewis Sawin, Jerry Macke, and many others for their unrestrained efforts. It's up to the girls now.

Little Bits

FABLE: Barnes and Ammons walked across the campus accompanied by Norma Weather-spoon and Jim Collier . . . no subtle comments were made.

There's one thing about studying in a fraternity house . . . there's always enough noise to keep one awake.

Thanks a lot to MARY ANN MACKE and others. I sincerely appreciate it.

And then there was the AG-R who asked one how his toe was feeling . . . he heard I had promaine poisoning.

Class Of '49--The Same Old Joes

1945 . . . Finally finished off the Japs . . . Didn't like the idea of a lifetime in the Army. . . . On our way home decided to take a tour of the old campus. . . . What kind of a kid will show us through the new field house? . . . Wonder what they're like over at the house. . . .

Well, when peacetime gives American youth another chance to graze the pastures of intellect without worrying about the draft board, you'll find that Joe College won't have changed much. He'll be coming to college for the same thing.

Even if he's been through the campaigns in North Africa and France, the ideas and opinions which he has absorbed from our economic system since he was only a few years old will have stuck with him, making him a victim of the same old misguided ambition-ambition which tells him that he's got to be a lawyer or doctor or banker to be anybody. White collar or disgrace.

This intolerance of anything but the executive and the professional is characteristic of today's college student. It'll be the same in 1975, because the present high school student has the same idea, according to a survey recently published in Fortune magazine. Take a look at the results of this survey. See if Harry Highschool's macademic ideas are any different from yours.

First, the white collar aggr. Fortune's survey shows that 35.8 per cent of the ten million high schoolers want a professional income, 21 per cent more want executive business positions, and only about 12 per cent indicated that they would be satisfied in the factory or on the farm. When asked if they would take factory work provided the income were equal to that from professional positions, over half of them said "no." "Too monotonous." High school students think that they should have an income of about $50 a week. Children from the better fixed families expect considerably more.

Too bad. Too bad, unless you feel that the drug of ambition is worth the hangover of dis-appointment. And a lot of us besides the high school kids will be disappointed because things just won't fit. It's probably too late to do anything for us, but it's up to our educators to help the next students that wear freshman caps. Somebody tell them that there just isn't room in the already crowded white collar ranks for even half the number that wants in. Show them that it's just as much fun and just as much of a contribution to society to turn out a perfect axle as it is to turn out a short story. Show them the facts about their chances of being a successful lawyer or executive. You may be able to do some good if you start right away because the high incomes of defense factories and the experiences of some youths in the service have laid a fine foundation.

The typical high school student's economic ambition was mentioned first because, if the end determines the means, it will dominate his personality habits. Second most important finding in the survey conducted by Fortune was that the high school student considered fun. This, too, will tell you a lot about the Class of '49.

The significant point is that all the high schoolers like the same kind of entertainment—dancing, movies, sports—there were practically no cases of a student naming an individual or original form of recreation. Dancing, movies, sports are named in that order of popularity. Necking is well understood, but is evidently not considered entertainment. Over half of the boys think that 80 to 100 per cent of the high schoolers neck their girls. Only a very few show any liking for whiskey. So it looks like the postwar Joe will be doing about the same things for entertainment.

The remainder of the survey included the following facts: About half of the high schoolers think our present governmental organization is perfect and needs no change. Two-thirds of all income classes believe the country would be worse off if there were no rich people. Negroes are the most unpopular of the minorities. Only 15 per cent think there is no use in formulating idealistic peace plans for the postwar years. Practically all of the students say they get along well with their parents.

Well, the phoe hasn't changed much . . . all take another twenty years. Guess I'll go back home.

Co-ed Corner . . .

By SCOTTY McTULOCK

What with the hurry and flurry of campus activities, military balls and open houses, it's a wonder that the coeds of old U. K. have time to dress carefully or to make sure they are looking good at all times. Some of them though, manage to keep up their good looks and get to all the functions without throwing in the towel.

Among the ever so smooth ones was Neva Cooper, Alpha Gamma, who came striding into the grill the other night, dressed in a snappy suede vest of aqua and red, long sleeved red saddle-stitched silk blouse, and wearing a beige skirt that completed a terrific outfit. Something to look at and something to copy. . .

If you want a complete outfit that strikes the right note on any sports occasion, cast your glances on Patry Pined. Independent, who looks right at the games in a chocolate brown wool suit and matching calskim shoes. A suit is always the right thing and it's one of the essentials in a college girl's wardrobe. This one is a fondest dream come true.

Redhead Jean Elliott, ADPI, goes to classes in the classic sweater and skirt, but puts a striking touch to it with various colors of necklaces or pearls. The old gray flannel skirt and yellow sweater are fine, but sometimes your morale is lifted and your disposition much improved by a hint of color. Try flowers in your hair, artificial or otherwise, if you can get the "otherwise."

Betty Pugh, Alpha Xi, admires simplicity and follows her convictions with a gray flannel jumper and white blouse that keep her looking neat and neat. The girls in the job printing office, Koko Koocher, Ind., and Betty McClanahan, ADPI, come to work in slacks, for comfort and practicality. And the whole campus turns out in slacks in the cold weather for those same reasons, comfort and practicality.

Chi Omega Makes Real Gift By Offering Veronica Mimosa

By BETTY JANE PUGH

Kentucky Epsilon

A real contribution to campus culture was made by Lambda Alpha of Chi Omega in bringing Veronica Mimosa, 16-year-old pianist, to the University for a concert Sunday night in Memorial hall.

Playing with all the fire and vigor and imagination of her youth, the child prodigy exhibited the confidence and intensity of a great artist.

Forcefulness and strength characterized her performance as she played "G minor Fantasia and Fugue" by Johann Sebastian Bach. Mastery of fingering technique was at once evidenced in her handling of the difficult fugue.

and scope of Beethoven was reflected as Miss Mimosa played the "Sonata Appassionata." Dynamics and shading were vivid, ranging from crashing crescendos into soft whispers of tones and rising again to the heights.

After the fury of this exciting sonata, the young pianist demonstrated her versatility in the playing of the tender and delicate "Clair de Lune" by Debussy. Dexterity of fingering was again demonstrated in the display piece by Schumann, "Toccata," and in Liszt's "Campanella."

"Concert Arabesque on Motifs of the Beautiful Blue Danube" closed the recital.

Dr. Perrine To Discuss Speech And Sound Effects

Dr. J. O. Perrine, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, will give a lecture on "The Electrical Synthesis of Speech" at 7:45 p. m. on Thursday at Memorial Hall. Essentially the apparatus, sometimes called the "Voder" (voice operation demonstrator), is an electrical arrangement which corresponds to the human speech mechanism in its production of speech and in the completeness of control thereof. It was designed in the Bell Telephone Laboratories, and is built entirely, except for its keys, of apparatus used in everyday telephone service.

It is manipulated by a girl operator from a console which resembles a little old-fashioned organ with a small keyboard and pedal. The operation of the keys and pedal in accordance with a definite system enables speech to be synthesized.

In his talk, Dr. Perrine will discuss speech sounds and their basic elements. The girl operator at the console will perform some very interesting speech demonstrations to illustrate the points brought out. He will show that after various sounds have been studied their recreation by proper combinations of acoustic frequencies becomes an easier task.

The "Voder" which was the main attraction of the Bell Telephone Company exhibit at the two recent world fairs in New York and San Francisco, will be made to enunciate the letters of the alphabet, the numbers from one to ten, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," and various interesting multiple syllable words. It will be manipulated in such a way that it will speak in a very broad, profound voice, a high pitched voice, the shaky voice of an old man, and will laugh and sing.

It is hoped that out of studies of this kind and further developments, instrumentalities and facilities may be provided for carrying more telephone conversations over existing lines, without interference of one with another.

The lecture touches also on the significance of the "Voder" as a step in serious telephone research. With the means of artificially creating speech at hand, one may speculate on the possibility of doing so at a distant point according to Dr. Perrine. It is possible that some day the words spoken into a telephone may be converted into narrow bands of frequencies simulating telegraph signals which in turn at the distant end of the line, will control electrical currents to re-create the words.

Necklace of Death

A deadly necklace of machine gun bullets is worn by Marjorie Wehrkamp, who is being trained at the North American Aviation plant, Inglewood, Calif. The ammunition will be loaded into a 17.5 mm. machine gun turret.

The Kernel Social Side

Tri Deltas Entertain Phoenix Soldiers

Delta Rho chapter of Delta Delta Delta entertained with an open house for all soldiers stationed at the Phoenix hotel and for the army and Navy Air Corps from 8 to 11 o'clock Friday night.

The chapter house was decorated in streamers of red, white and blue and a Tri Delta Canteen served coffee and doughnuts during the evening.

Bill Albers, corporal technician from Cincinnati, played several piano selections and Billy Jean, Emily, and Marie Jones sang "Wishing," "Bridge, Tripoli, and dancing were entertainment.

Virginia Cantrell, social chairman, Virginia Baskett, and Mary Jean McElroy were in charge of plans for the party.

Alpha Gams Fete With House Dance

Alpha Gamma Delta entertained with a candlelight house dance from 8 until 11 o'clock Friday night at the chapter house.

Chaperones for the dance were Dean Sarah Holmes, Dean Jones, and Mrs. John Hagan, housemother.

Geology Group Holds Monte Carlo Party

Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary geology fraternity, entertained with a Monte Carlo party from 8 until 11 o'clock Friday night at the Natural Science building.

Paper money amounting to thousands of dollars was issued early in the evening for gambling at the Roulette wheel, dice table, bingo game, and for bidding during the auction of prizes.

Dates of the actives included Carol Dold, Norma Dennis, Helen Davis, Martha Jane Allen, Sally Brown, Mary Elizabeth Stigall, Lucy Meyer, and Marian Harris. Other guests were Dr. and Mrs. A. C. McFarlan, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Branson, Prof. and Mrs. D. M. Young, Mrs. William Haag, Mary Beth McFarlan, Wanda Schuppert, Warren Schweder, George Velotta, and R. B. Brooks.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Richard Gard, Corfer Sunderman, and Richard Noyler.

Sigma Phis Visited By Grand Secretary

Herb Helling, Grand Secretary of Sigma Phi Epsilon, visited the Kentucky chapter this week. The national headquarters of the fraternity is in Richmond, Va.

Thomas Edward Collins, Jr., Louisville, became a second lieutenant and won the silver wings of a pilot at Napier Field, Dothan, Ala. Before entering the Air Forces, he attended the University and was employed by the Standard Oil Company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Collins, Sr., of Lexington.

Having completed pre-flight and primary training, Thomas F. Duffy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Duffy, Sr., Midway, now is a basic flying cadet at Bainbridge, Ga. He received his pre-flight training at Maxwell Field, Ala. A graduate of the University, he enrolled in the Air Forces last April.

Lieut. Kenneth Gregory, former Herald reporter and former Associated Press sports editor, now a member of the Naval Reserve, is stationed at the Naval Training Station, Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H. He expects to be transferred to Charleston, S. C., April 3.

Lieut. Butler H. Durham, Lexington, entered pilot training last May and trained at Arcadia Field, Fla., and Macon, Ga., before going to Columbus. He attended the University.

Lieut. Louis Muel, U. S. Army Air Corps, is visiting his father, Victor Muel, Versailles, Lieutenant Muel, who received his commission February 11, is being transferred from Chennet Field, Ill., to Miami Beach, Fla.

Corp. E. A. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Long, 414 West Fourth street, has been promoted to sergeant at Westover Field, Mass. Sergeant Long is a graduate of the University.

Lieut. Raymond T. Lathrem, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lathrem, 407 North Broadway, is visiting his parents on leave from his post with a general hospital at New Orleans, La.

Lieut. John S. Boles of the class of 1940 is now located at Stinson Field, San Antonio, Texas, with 468 Base headquarters, B. P. Squadron.

Lieut. H. Clayton Robinson, Jr. and Mrs. Robinson, formerly Barbara Melvin of Lexington, are now living at 1050 Hickman road, Augusta, Ga. Lieutenant Robinson is located at Camp Gordon.

Lieut. Charles P. Reeves and Mrs. Reeves are welcoming a daughter, born February 5, at their home, 417 Maple street, Seaside, Calif. Lieutenant Reeves is in service at Fort Orr, Calif. Both the lieutenant and Mrs. Reeves, formerly Virginia Robinson, were members of the class of 1937.

East Takes Rationing Seriously

Highways along the eastern seaboard are virtually deserted as motorists realize the OPA isn't fooling when restrictions are placed on pleasure driving. Before the no-pleasure-driving ban, the approach to New York's Holland Tunnel was crowded with vehicles (top photo). Now traffic trickles through this important link between New York and New Jersey.

Red Cross Lecturer: "Of course, you all know what the inside of a corpse is like."

Pawky DePaul Paws Kentucky 53-44 Before 16,000 Windy City Fans

Great Lakes Takes
A 60-56 Victory
Over Notre Dame

With their six foot, eight inch center, George Mikan, knocking Kentucky shots away from the basket, DePaul's Demons built up a first-half lead and coasted to a 53-44 win over Kentucky's Wildcats in Chicago stadium Saturday night. Some 16,000 fans watched the Windy City lads tame the visiting 'Cats in the first tilt of a twin bill before Great Lakes, Kentucky's foe in Louisville March 6, scored an overtime 60-56 victory over Notre Dame.

The Kentuckians, apparently off form after running over Southeastern Conference big-wigs, were able to count only one field goal in the first six minutes, while the local hoopsters were scorching the net with six and a free throw. A tight DePaul inner defense kept the Bluegrass boys from working the ball in under the basket.

After awhile the Ruppmen began to move, pulled to a 30-16 edge at half-time. The damage had already been done, however, and the Demons rolled to a nine-point success. Marvin Akers and Milt Tico's long efforts went for naught as the huge Mikan batted them away from the hoop into the waiting arms of a teammate.

At times the visitors staged spurts that looked as if they might overtake the Demons, but all of these fell short, and Kentucky suffered its third non-conference loss of the season.

If Kentucky had matched its second-half performance before intermission, the outcome might have been different, but 'twas mostly DePaul in the first 20 minutes, and the late 'Tucky rally was in vain.

The game was Kentucky's last scheduled contest before the conference tourney in Louisville this week. The 1943 finale will be played against the Great Lakes quintet.

Mikan led the DePaul point-guards with 18, Tico garnered 13 for the 'Cats.

'CAT FENCERS DROP DECISION TO GEORGIA TECH

Season's Record
Stands At One
Win, One Loss

Kentucky's fencers dropped a 10½-6½ decision to Georgia Tech Saturday night at Atlanta to make their record stand at one won and one lost. Dr. Charles M. Knapp's charges defeated the University of Cincinnati earlier in the season.

Only in the epee division did the Wildcats best the efforts of the Techmen, beating them, 2½ to 1½. The Yellow Jackets outshone the Kentuckians in saber work, taking all four of the matches. In fells, the 'Cats took four and lost five. Swift was best for Kentucky in fells, and Pudding starred in epee work.

The next opponents of the Kentucky fencers will be the bladesmen of the University of Cincinnati, when the Wildcats journey to the Queen city. The parriers from Ohio State will probably participate, making the meet a triangular affair. It has been announced.

Kentucky

Poils—Swift won two, lost one; Thompson won one, lost two; Hubbard won one, lost two.

Saber—Carroll won none, lost two; Warton won none, lost two. Epee—Pudding won 1½, lost 1½; Christian won one, lost one.

Tech

Poils—Davis won one, lost one; Teltelbaum won one, lost one; Dreyfoof won one, lost one; Hard won one, lost none; McMurray won one, lost none; and Ivey won none, lost one.

Saber—White won two, lost none; Hard won two, lost none.

Epee—Teltelbaum won none, lost one; Hard won none, lost one; Lerner won 1½, lost 1½; Dreyfoof won one, lost none.

Noel Will Cover Center

Paul Noel, Midway freshman, has been converted into a center by Coach Adolph Rupp in a last-minute effort to plug the center hole on his game team. The arm injury of Mel Brewer, starter, was diagnosed as a "torn muscle" while in Chicago by an eminent bone specialist.

Lanky Brewer will not practice prior to the Southeastern Conference tourney in Louisville Thursday, Friday and Saturday. His arm is now strapped, will probably keep him from seeing too much action in the meet. "We won't use him unless necessary," the Baron says.

"Rest and plenty of it" was the doc's orders to the lanky center. The technical explanation of the injury was a biceps muscle "torn from insertion at the radius."

Brewer's hurt totalled three pivot-men now on the ineligible list for the tourney. Ed Lander is out for the season with a broken leg. Carl Althaus will be inducted into the Air Corps tomorrow.

Hitler is sadly in need of a strong supporting cast for his role as the modern Daniel. It is hardly to be expected, however, that any angels will save him from the British lion.

A newly-inducted soldier succintly remarked he couldn't understand why he held the rank of private, because he hadn't had a moment's privacy since entering the service.

INTRAMURALS ARE POSTPONED UNTIL MARCH 2

SEC Tourney Is Cause For Game Delay

By BAYNE PRIDE

Intramural basketball tournament competition is scheduled to enter the second round tonight when Independent and Fraternity league quintets battle for a berth in the finals scheduled for March 4. Fraternity League A went into action Thursday night as four contests were registered.

Because of the Southeastern Conference tournament at Louisville, all tournament games scheduled for the remainder of this week will be postponed until March 2. An admission charge of ten cents will be collected at all tournament games to be played in Alumni Gym and in the Gym Annex.

In the first round of play in League A, the PKT's took an early lead to down SX, 27-18; DTD scored a triumph over Kappa Alpha, 28-12; and the Triangles racked up 34 markers to 13 for ZBT. In the only other game scheduled, the Phi Sigs forfeited to AGR.

The boys in the University bowling league really "got on the ball" last week as six of the keggers qualified for the "Two Century or Better Club" in single games.

Red Stanton, SX pinman, rolled a high 222 game, closely followed by AGR Irvin Overall with 221. Jimmy Leer, AGR, rolled 208; Mitchell Yowell, AGR, 208; Gabby Gruenwald, B'9's, 200; and Gus Green, PKT, 211.

Instead of the usual one-day-a-week session, the U League bowlers now use the Colonial Lanes every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

The standings:

	W	L
B'9's	12	0
AGR	11	4
SX	9	6
Triangle	8	7
Sigma Nu	7	5
Kappa Alpha	6	6
PKT	6	6
DTD	6	9
ATO	4	8
Kappa Sig	4	11

LEADS SQUADRON AT 23—Capt. Veril D. Leubling, 23, adj. headphons as he takes off. The man of his squadron for several months.

University of Manchester in England is turning out engineers in two and one-third years.

Father: "Son, how many spankings did you get last week?"

Son: "I don't know, pop. I don't pay any attention to what's going on behind my back."

Two of the performers, Aggie Sale, former coach at Harrodsburg high but now in the Army, and LeRoy Edwards, were depleted as "players of the year." Sale, lanky center, was named for the 1933 season, while Edwards, also a high-scoring pivot-man, gained the same honor in 1935. Carl Althaus, current right-hand man of Rupp, was an All-American in 1930.

Basil Hayden was the first 'Cat chosen, that being in 1921. The others are Burgess Carey, 1925; Carey Spieker, 1929 and 1931; McBrayer, 1930; Sale, 1932 and 1933; John Demoisey, 1934; Edwards, 1935, and Lee Huber, 1941.

Good pickings, we say. The Baron certainly deserves a place in basketball's Hall of Fame, while the players mentioned have carved themselves a niche in basketball annals.

KERNEL SPORTS

The Sporting Way

By BAXTER MELTON

Like a leader of a neighborhood gang, Kentucky returns to the Southeastern Conference tourney in Louisville this week with a good chance of having the last say-so. Being the top man on the SEC totem pole is nothing new for the 'Cat net squad; it's become more than a habit, it's darn nigh an obsession.

Since Baron Adolph Rupp came to Alumni gym, Wildcat quintets have toted off more league titles than the other schools like to recall. The plowman-coach has piloted six fives to loop diadems, has sent several others to the final.

With a cautious glance at those "I-told-you-so-guys," we'll take a precarious position on that well-known limb and opine things to come this week. We realize that this promises to be one of the closest meets ever, but still—

Auburn and Louisiana State get the tonney under way at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. With not even a funny feeling, we take the Bengals in this fray, since they should find the Plainsmen as gentle as their name.

The night session's first tilt presents something of a problem, but we'll take Mississippi over Georgia, since the Peaches haven't ripened all season. Apparently the Bulldogs are still riding on Rose Bowl grid laurels, while Ole Miss tucked thoughts of grid-iron activities away with their football togs.

Now the Kentucky-Tulane fiastico. The Baron shouldn't have to travel over a couple of miles on that well-known brown suit, and Irish Paul McBrayer probably won't offer more than one frown as the 'Cats top the Greenies by a substantial margin.

With Friday's rounds come a more serious perusal of the team records. At 2 o'clock 'Bama goes against L. S. U., if our first-day pick proves o. k. Here we give the nod to the Red Elephants, since the Tide is a tourney tyrant. Last year's meet is offered as Exhibit A in our evidence.

Tennessee and Vanderbilt take the floor at 3:30 in a home-state clash. It's not too hard to conjure a Vol win, but Dick Mehen and his associates can't take their victory over the Commodores in Nashville last Saturday night too seriously.

Coach Roy Mundorf's best edition ever of Georgia Tech Engineers (here we quote the Baron) shouldn't have too much trouble with Mississippi State in the night's opening attraction. The Ramblin' Wreck apparently has too much for Coach Dick Hitt's boys.

Kentucky's Wildcats are odds-on favorites to send a partisan crowd home happy with at least a 10-point win over Mississippi in the day's finale.

Comes now the semi-finals and a little added emphasis on the proceedings. For the Tennessee-Alabama game we toss a coin after being unable to convince ourselves of a sure winner. Heads—Tennessee, tails—Alabama. Heads, Tennessee. Hm-mm-mm-mm-mm. We'll try it again. Tails, 'Bama. Well, let this pitch be the winner. Heads, so guess it's Tennessee in one of the best games of the tourney.

The afternoon's final showing will find Kentucky pounding out a win over Georgia Tech, but not easily as the Feb. 15 success in Alumni gym. The Yellow Jackets will have some ideas of their own in Saturday's meeting.

And then that all-important final, one of those colorful Kentucky-Tennessee extravaganzas that are a common sight to conference followers. After a typical 'Cat-Vol struggle, the Ruppmen will send fans home murmuring "true champs."

See ya in Louisville, bub.

BARON NAMED AMONG GREATS IN CAGE WORLD

Eight Kentucky
Players Are Also Named

Coach Adolph Rupp and eight Kentucky basketball players were honored in the Collegiate Basketball Record published by the Helms Athletic Foundation in Los Angeles, Calif. The Baron was named as one of the greatest net mentors of all time, his 1933 team was described as national collegiate champion, and the eight players were listed as All-Americans.

Two of the performers, Aggie Sale, former coach at Harrodsburg high but now in the Army, and LeRoy Edwards, were depleted as "players of the year." Sale, lanky center, was named for the 1933 season, while Edwards, also a high-scoring pivot-man, gained the same honor in 1935. Carl Althaus, current right-hand man of Rupp, was an All-American in 1930.

Good pickings, we say. The Baron certainly deserves a place in basketball's Hall of Fame, while the players mentioned have carved themselves a niche in basketball annals.

COACH ADOLPH RUPP . . . has been named as one of the greatest basketball coaches of all time by the Helms Athletic Foundation of Los Angeles after a lengthy research. Several of the Baron's star performers during his 13 years at the University were also recognized.

Auburn Meets LSU In First Game Of SEC Tournament

Tech Is Threat
To Kentucky
In Lower Bracket

By Baxter Melton
Kernel Sports Editor

Minus one loop member, but with a better-balanced makeup than in previous years, the Southeastern Conference's second war-time tourney gets under way in Louisville's Jefferson county Armory at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Auburn and Louisiana State meeting in the first game. Florida will be the missing quintet, having dropped out at the last moment when seven of its first 10 players were called into active service from the Air Corps reserve.

Most rail-birds agree that Kentucky, top-seeded by the coaches, got the advantage of the draw. Georgia Tech is the only outstanding threat in the 'Cats' lower bracket, while L. S. U., Tennessee, Alabama and Tennessee are all in the upper division. Tennessee was seeded second, L. S. U. third, Tech fourth, and Alabama fifth by 11 loop mentors.

Kentucky's opening parry in defense of its league crown sends the Ruppmen against Tulane in the first round's last struggle at 9 o'clock Thursday night. If victorious in this outing, the 'Cats' next appearance will be Friday night against the winner of the Mississippi-Georgia clash. The top outfit in this battle will meet the Tech-Mississippi State victor in the semi-finals.

Tulane shouldn't cause too much trouble in Kentucky's first start, though the Green Wave has shown improvement of late. In their last start Saturday night the Greenies held Louisiana State's Bengals to a 46-40 margin, could easily upset the 'Cat bandwagon. Old followers of the Wildcats recall previous years of SEC tourney history, when the Ruppmen, picked to wait through the meet, were caught by surprise in openers.

One thing is certain—the DePaul conquest Saturday night will be an incentive to Coach Adolph Rupp's lads. After having run over the Southland's top teams by overwhelming margins, the Bluegrass basketballers lacked some of the ol' zing in the Chicago melee.

When upsets are mentioned, last year's meet is brought to mind, when Kentucky and Tennessee were expected to march to the finals with not an extra amount of trouble. Alabama rose up to halt the Vol jaunt, while the Wildcats received the scare of their lives before Jim Kim paced a late-game rally to edge out lightly-regarded Auburn.

Fans in the upper region of the cotton kingdom are anxious to see Louisiana State's hardwood representatives. Youthful Dale Morey has brought the Bengals out of the net wilderness in his first year, promises plenty of surprises for loop schools in the season's windup.

Kentucky's chief worry concerning its title defense centers around the pivot slot. Mel Brewer's arm injury was described as a severed muscle by a Chicago bone specialist Saturday, and the big jump-man isn't expected to be up to par during the tourney. Ed Lander, his chief assistant, was sidelined for the rest of the season with a broken leg two weeks ago. Only last week Carl Althaus, third-string center, was called into active service from the Air Corps reserve, so the middle post problem appears gloomy indeed. Bill Weber still remains, but the Buckeye cager has seen little service this season.

Kentucky has met and defeated five of the 10 other colleges represented in the tourney, three of them twice. However, odd things games this season, Chest referred are the order of the day when there often in previous years.

chips are down among Southeastern members, and each year finds additional upsets to enter the records.

It isn't too hard to imagine a Tennessee-Kentucky final, but anything can happen in 'Tucky's three-game route to the big event, and the Vols could strike a snag in their two-tilt bill.

The 'Cat entourage will probably leave late Wednesday for the Falls City, Bernie Shively, athletic director and meet manager, has announced. Students will receive 25-cent reductions on general admission tickets, 50-cent cuts on reserve seats, S. A. "Daddy" Boles, ticket manager, has disclosed.

Bowser Chest and Dan Tahan, both familiar to University fans, will officiate the tourney, with another referee yet to be selected. Tahan has officiated at several home games this season, Chest referred are the order of the day when there often in previous years.
